The Vice President Reports

Nickerson Reports

Richard Nixon

One morning in April, 1965, at a meeting of the National Security Council, President Eisenhower suddenly looked across the table at me and said, "Dick, I think you should take a trip to the Far East. Take care of your personal business there, and then you can return to Washington."

As a result, Mrs. Nixon and I made two trips overseas. We visited the Far East, Central America, and the Caribbean areas. We traveled more than twice the distance covered by the trip with a small group of journalists and a few other dignitaries.

DHYANA'S HALL

At dawn I came to the convent door. While the rising sun tips its tall tower with gold—

As, darkly, by a winding path I reach—

Dhyana's hall, hidden midst serene... and hark—

Around those hills sweet birds their pleasure take—

Mrs. Nixon was always well-versed in Chinese culture.

Voice of Experience

Experience is a talk

Take all the experience and judgment of men over 50 out of the world, and there would not be enough left to run it. There is no reason why 50 should not do as much work with the mind of others—better work. Youngsters have their place and are necessary, but the experience and judgment of men over 50 are what give purpose and meaning to younger man's efforts.

Henry Ford

When world leaders sit down together at a conference, the difference of opinion and judgment that can be brought to bear on the problems of the world are enormous. Young people must learn to respect the older generation and to understand their point of view.
