Socrates' Defence of Himself as Reported by Plato in the Apology

CROSSWORDS ACROSS:
1. Produced by art, and not by nature.
2. Of, employing, analysis.
11. An interjection, express surprise, triumph, good.
12. Young goat, child.
15. Putrify.
17. Make mistakes.
19. Salvation Army (abbreviation).
22. Meditative, conjoined with.

DOWN:
1. Manage.
2. Express grat tude to.
3. Ruck.
4. Aberration for "nine-bark".
5. Not stationary.
6. Join by way of increasing.

SOLON

by Eduard C. Lindeman

It is assumed that Solon was born in the neighborhood of Sparta and that he was the son of Exarces. His mother, according to Herodotus, was a cousin of Peiraetes' mother. In any case, Solon's family, although noble and respected in Athens, was neither wealthy nor powerful. Solon's poetry is his youth and might have earned him a reputation in these spheres and he not chosen instead the profession of philosopher-statesman.

In general, Solon is said to have been the son of a particular kind of Athenian who was a friend of the king. He was known in his youth for his poetry and his knowledge of the law, and he was a close friend of the king. In his later years, he was a close friend of the king and was often called upon by him to give advice on matters of state. Solon is said to have been a great scholar and to have written many books on law and politics.

He was not only a great scholar, but also a great musician and a great orator. He was known for his ability to speak in public, and he was a great advocate for the freedom of speech and the freedom of thought. He was a great defender of the rights of the people and was known for his courage in the face of adversity.

He was not only a great scholar, but also a great musician and a great orator. He was known for his ability to speak in public, and he was a great advocate for the freedom of speech and the freedom of thought. He was a great defender of the rights of the people and was known for his courage in the face of adversity.

He was not only a great scholar, but also a great musician and a great orator. He was known for his ability to speak in public, and he was a great advocate for the freedom of speech and the freedom of thought. He was a great defender of the rights of the people and was known for his courage in the face of adversity.

He was not only a great scholar, but also a great musician and a great orator. He was known for his ability to speak in public, and he was a great advocate for the freedom of speech and the freedom of thought. He was a great defender of the rights of the people and was known for his courage in the face of adversity.