LADY WINDERMERE'S FAN

Meanwhile Mrs. Elrnon asks for Lady Windermere and learns she has gone out. Mrs. Elrnon then finds Lady Windermere's letter and her mother-in-law there about to prevent a tragedy, and Mrs. Elrnon asks the reader that Mrs. Elrnon is Lady Windermere's mother and that she has always believed she has died. Actually Mrs. Elrnon discovered her husband and daughter ran off with another man. This is the situation she would have her daughter avoid.

While Lady Windermere is looking at the photograph of herself and her son which Mrs. Elrnon has taken with her, Lord Windermere threatens to expose Mrs. Elrnon to his wife. Going up to him Mrs. Elrnon says, "If you do, I will make your name so infamous that you will ruin every moment of your life. It will ruin her and make her wretched.

LADY WINDERMERE AND THE FAN

LADY WINDERMERE returns with the photograph and Lord Windermere goes out to summon Mrs. Elrnon's husband. Mrs. Elrnon informs Mrs. Elrnon that she is going to tell her husband of the event of the previous evening, but Mrs. Elrnon makes her promise that she will never divulge the secret. It force Mrs. Elrnon leaves her and Mrs. Elrnon is able to give her a satisfactory explanation for being in Lord Windermere's house. They plan to marry and leave England to live on the continent.

LADY WINDERMERE AND THE FAN

LADY WINDERMERE leaves her husband and daughter. She decides to visit a place where she can be alone. She goes to a house belonging to an old friend of hers. She knocks on the door and is let in by a young girl. The girl asks her name and she answers that it is Lady Windermere. The girl then asks her to sit down and offers her a drink. Lady Windermere accepts and the two begin to talk. They talk about the troubles that Lady Windermere's husband is causing her and how she is going to leave him.

LETS LAUGH!

COWHAND: Did you find this horse well-behaved while you were riding it?

GREENHORN: I should say I did. He had such good manners that whenever we came to a fence, he let me go over first.

TUG: How do you like your chimney sweeping job?

LUG: It suits me fine.

TEACHER: What science would you be going if you said, "I have money"?

RIGHT STUDENT: Physics.

PROFESSOR: Who was so rude as to laugh out loud?

STUDENT: It was an accident, sir. I laughed up my sleeve and there's a hole in the elbow.

JOE: How can you do so many stupid things in one day?

MOE: I get up early.
